Subject: Which Path to Quality Teaching? Update
Mime-Version: 1.0
Content-type: text/plain; charset=us-ascii
Content-Disposition: inline

The third update on the ECS Web site "Which Path to Quality Teaching?", which features the debate between Linda Darling-Hammond and Checker Finn, is now in place for your viewing at www.ecs.org. The theme for the current two weeks is "Subject Knowledge vs. Knowledge of Teaching," and the new additions to the Web site include a brief video clip of the different views of Darling-Hammond and Finn on this issue as well as links to several other Web sites that add additional insight.

Don't miss the new material, and don't forget to join the new on-line discussion! If you'd like to purchase a video copy of the entire Darling-Hammond/Finn debate for $15 plus postage and handling, please call the ECS Distribution Center at 303-299-3692.
